Dear Dr. Friday:

In a few days you will receive an invitation to our conference from Governor Robert W. Scott of North Carolina. It will help us in our planning, however, to know as soon as possible if you will be able to accept.

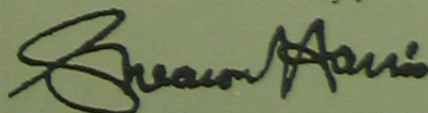

As you will note from the enclosed statement, the conference, while worldwide in scope, will focus especially on the Southern region of the United States and will consider how best to influence its future development in relation to population growth and distribution.

Participants, in addition to population experts, will include leading industrialists such as W. Graham Claytor, Jr., President of the Southern Railway Company; Victor S. Johnson, Jr., Chairman and President of Aladdin Industries; and Soli P. Godrej, Chairman of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce; also urbanologists such as Lord Richard Llewelyn-Davies, and Paolo Soleri, whose brilliant designs for cities of the future have brought him international fame.

Realizing that business commitments may prevent you from attending all sessions, we are designing the program so that each segment will in itself be worth any time you can invest in attending. We can assure you, further, that it will be a good show.

Conferees will be guests of the sponsors at the two luncheons and the dinner during the conference as well as the advance reception and dinner on October 21, but we would appreciate your specifying on the enclosed reservation card which you expect to attend. Since accommodations in Chapel Hill are limited, we urge you to make reservations early.

Sincerely,

Shearon Harris
Chairman
