Dear Colleague,

USAID's MEASURE Evaluation Project and Addis Continental Institute of Public Health, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, are pleased to announce a training opportunity for the Anglophone Africa region. Addis Continental Institute of Public Health will be offering the "Regional Workshop on Monitoring and Evaluation of Population, Health and Nutrition Programs." This two-week course will take place February 4-15, 2013, and will be taught in English.

The MEASURE Evaluation Project is committed to capacity building in monitoring and evaluation. As a part of this commitment, we have been collaborating with regional institutions to provide training opportunities to meet the need for monitoring and evaluation skills among professionals working in the population and health fields. The course given by Addis Continental Institute of Public Health will accomplish this by providing intensive training that will cover the fundamentals of strong monitoring and evaluation of population, health, nutrition programs:

- Program Design Frameworks
- Indicator Development
- Performance Monitoring and Evaluation Plans
- Data Collection Methods, including Qualitative Methods
- Facilitating Use of Strategic Information

MEASURE Evaluation staff will join faculty from Addis Continental Institute of Public Health to provide instruction. The course will target mid-level health and population officers, program managers and other professionals involved with the implementation of population, health and nutrition programs.

The fee for the course is US $2,500. This tuition fee does not include airfare, visa fees, evening meals or other incidental expenses. A limited number of MEASURE Evaluation fellowships are available for qualified applicants who are citizens of USAID-assisted countries. Please note that the application deadline is November 30, 2012.

Please refer to the attached brochure for additional information. Feel free to contact the Capacity Building Specialist with any questions regarding this training opportunity (measure\_training@unc.edu).
