

The Population Association of America

Save The Date

The Population Association of America (PAA) invites you to a luncheon briefing

"Recession and Recovery: How are Americans Affected?"

Monday, July 12, 2010

12:00 to 1:30 p.m.

Room B-340 Rayburn House Office Building

A weak economy touches almost every American family. While headlines suggest the country is recovering slowly from the most recent economic crisis, it is important to understand the short and long-term consequences of economic recessions.

On Monday, July 12, 2010, the PAA is sponsoring a briefing with distinguished researchers who will present findings, demonstrating how economic downturns affect the most vulnerable U.S. populations: children, young adults, and older Americans.

For more information, or to RSVP, please contact Julianne Baron at paaapc@crosslink.net

Originally, this event was scheduled for February 5, 2010. It was canceled due to inclement weather.