GRANTS AND CONTRACTS

“Genetic/Epigenetic Markers, Social Contexts, Life-course and Risky Health Behavior.” (challenge Grant RC1 DA029425-01) National Institutes of Health October 2009 – August 31st 2012 with no cost extension. Principal Investigator. $1,000,000. This grant (a Challenge Grant) supports efforts that investigate how genetic, epigenetic, and social contextual influences affect risky health behaviors. One major goal of this project is to develop (in collaboration with Haipeng Shen of Statistics Department UNC-CH) statistical methods addressing multiple testing, one of the most difficult issues in similar types of analysis. Another main goal is to investigate (in collaboration with Moshe Szyf of McGill) the feasibility of saliva DNA in methylation analysis in large-scale social science studies.

“Gene by Social-Control Interactions for Delinquency and Crime,” National Science Foundation October 2008 – March 31st 2012. Principal Investigator (Guang Guo). $749,361. One major goal of this project is to create a genotype dataset for Add Health genetic subsample of Wave III that consisted of 2,612 respondents identified as siblings or twins at Wave I. The Illumina GoldenGate array targeted 1,536 SNPs. A total of 1,140 SNPs in 130 genes were successfully genotyped. The majority of the genes are associated with aggression identified in transgenic or knock-out studies of mice, or previously found to be related to risky behavior.

“Genetic Predispositions, Social Contexts, and Longitudinal Binge Drinking.” Supplement to the National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health. 3 P01 HD031921, NIAAA. July 2008-June 2010. Co-Principal Investigator $237,849.

“A Study of Peer Impacts on Health Behaviors and Attitudes.” William T. Grant Foundation. September 2007-August 2009. Principal Investigator. $670,054. This study used a study design of randomly-assigned roommates on a college campus (N=2,500) to study peer influences on risky health behaviors such as binge drinking and smoking. Saliva DNA was collected and 384 SNPs were genotyped to investigate the potential interactions between genetic propensities for risky health behaviors and exogenous peer influences.
