

Summer 2025 Undergraduate Research Internship

Project Name

Criminal Legal System Connections, Health, and Place Study

Faculty Mentor

Dr. Carmen Gutierrez (Public Policy)

Project Description

Connections to the criminal legal system (CLS) are known to affect health. However, surprisingly little is known about the ways that the relationship between CLS connections and health varies across geographic contexts. This project seeks to investigate the relationship between CLS connections and health across varying geographic contexts.

Scope of Work/Expected Deliverables for Internship

- Conduct literature review
- Generate bibliography
- Assist with preliminary data analysis

Preferred Skills

Coursework in research design; prior knowledge and experience with conducting literature reviews; statistical program experience; attention to detail and commitment to conduct high-quality work